What GRCMB Offers Choristers

- In a fast-spinning world, we provide boys a culture that focuses on the inspired; we are not driven or distracted.
- Opportunities for student leadership and achievement beyond school and athletics, a training ground for the high-caliber, well-rounded young men of tomorrow.
- A unique opportunity for multiple generations to bond through the medium of music. Fathers, sons, and even grandfathers come as peers to share the experience of singing together.

What GRCMB Offers West Michigan

- Recovery, and for many discovery, of a rich music and worship heritage.
- Adds a unique thread to the diverse performing arts tapestry of West Michigan.

Each year the choir presents 15 performances to packed house. Six to seven thousand will attend GRCMB concerts in person while thousands more will benefit from experiencing the choir sing online and on local GRCTV.

Gifts of all sizes help in allowing us to plan, develop and grow, continuing the tradition into the generations to come.

“The chorister experience is unique. The particular training to sing this music so often has a profound effect on a young boy’s life. The Grand Rapids Choir of Men & Boys is a jewel in the crown of the city’s culture. A whole generation of boys is being inspired to believe in themselves. And through discipline, study, and performing this music week in and out, to also believe in something much bigger than themselves.”

Dr. Martin Neary – Former Director of Music
Westminster Abbey Choir, London UK

“This really is a very, very special choir that you have here in your midst. I do hope that the community realizes how significant and remarkable a musical organization the Grand Rapids Choir of Men & Boys is. Membership in a group like this can transform the lives of the singers, not to mention the audience.”

Andrew Nethsingha – Director of Music
St. John’s College Choir, Cambridge UK
